GETTING A NEW
REP STARTED
& SUCCESSFUL

Hello Rock Star,

Tanya Aliza here and I'm so excited for you to get this resource for you and your business.

It's so important that when you have a new teammate start with you that you get them off to a proper start.

This checklist will help you understand how I get my new teammate started.

You're more than welcome to copy somebody's and use them in your own process and make this your own.

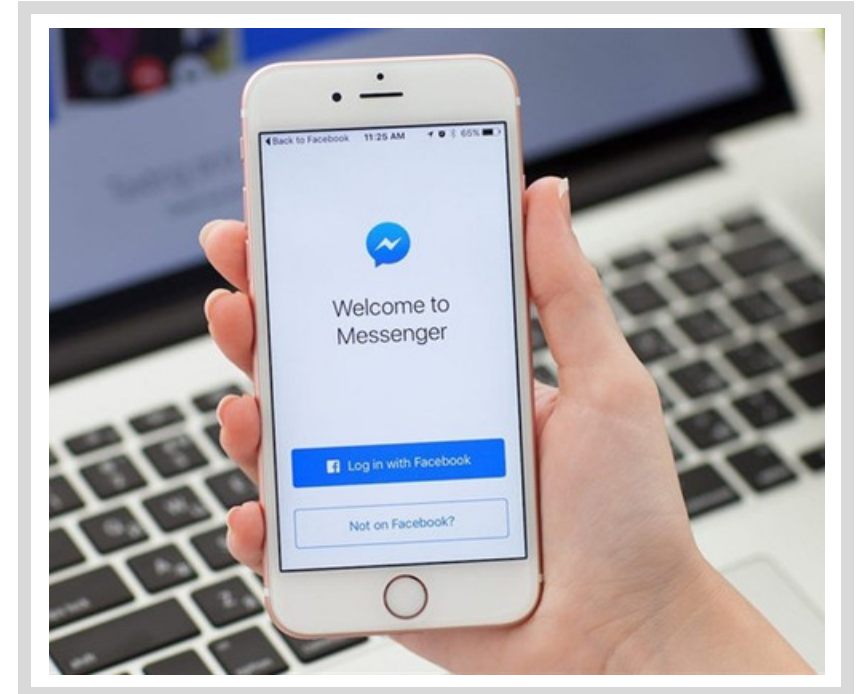

Some of these steps are going to be relevant to your business and some of them might not and you might replace him with certain things your team does... regardless of the actual independent steps, it's important to have the foundational pieces in place and a checklist for yourself so you don't miss anything.

Let's get into it...

- ☐ Plug them into your Facebook Group
- ☐ Plug them into your Facebook Chat
- ☐ Send them their Getting Started Checklist
- ☐ Find out their 'Why'
- ☐ Plug them into the Team Training
- ☐ Set a meeting date for when they'll complete the team training (24 hours)

- ☐ Help them build a list of 10 people
- ☐ Practice inviting and presenting with them (following the team process)
- ☐ Show them how to do a three way Facebook group chat
- ☐ Show them how to sign up a new customer or teammate
- ☐ Set a goal to expose those 10 people within the week
- ☐ Help them buy a ticket to the next company event
- ☐ Help them schedule the team calls on their calendar
- ☐ Show them how to plug into ongoing training

This is a little checklist that I have for myself that sits on my desk with me so I don't forget what to do with each new teammate for customer that comes on board.

When somebody's new and just get started, sometimes it can be really overwhelming because there's so much to do in the beginning... this will keep everything simple along the way.

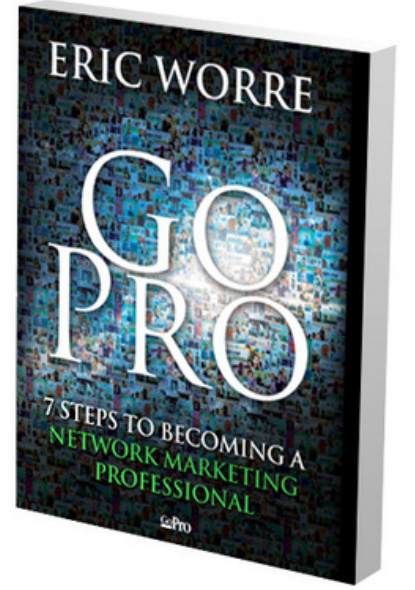

I suggest having a checklist that you use so you don't forget to plug in each new customer or teammate.

Some Resources That Will Help You Even More

GO PRO - BOOK

I love sharing Eric Worre's Go Pro book with my new teammates because it does a great job at pre-conditioning them to the industry and how to make this type of business work. Eric breaks down our business model into 7 simple steps that anyone can follow to hit their goals in this business. It's also great on conditioning your team on how to treat you as their sponsor and upline leadership.
